Port of Coos Bay solicits contractor service listings for small works roster

The Oregon International Port of Coos Bay is seeking information on contractor services for inclusion in a Small Works Roster. The roster will allow the Port to compile information on services offered by companies related to marine and land-based construction and repair; excavation; remediation; environmental surveying; permitting; civil, structural, mechanical and electrical engineering; architectural and landscape design; and railroad maintenance and construction.

The Small Works Roster will include contractors prequalified to provide small procurement goods and services not exceeding $5,000, intermediate procurements between $5,000 and $100,000, emergency procurements estimated not to exceed $200,000, and for construction not to exceed $100,000.

To qualify for inclusion on the Small Works Roster, contractors must be licensed in Oregon, possess a federal tax ID number, provide proof of insurance and bonding capability. Contractors will be responsible for providing proof of annual compliance with licensing, bonding and insurance requirements.

Application information and an enrollment questionnaire are available at www.portofcoosbay.com under the "Employment Opportunities" section, or at www.coosbayrailand.com under the "Opportunities" section.
